INTERESTS>

Along with my huge passion for all things design I love photography, living near Brighton has enabled me to capture some great shots as there is always something colourful and crazy going on. I never leave my house without my trusty camera.

Since buying my house I've started to get more into interior design and DIY. I'm often found researching new artists or bespoke furniture makers for some great bespoke pieces for the house, and looking for inspiration for what I can do in the next room.

I love to cook and when I'm not doing things to the house I can be found in the kitchen rustling up something delicious. That said, I enjoy eating out just as much, whether it's at a nice restaurant or the local pub for a Sunday roast with my two kids.
